American Protective Products Veterinarian of the Year Award

Description / Purpose
This DVB-AALAS - American Protective Products Veterinarian of the Year Award, instituted in 2008 is offered annually for outstanding accomplishment by a Veterinarian who is active in the DVB AALAS community. This award may not be given every year.

Award
This award consists of a plaque and a $200.00 Honorarium.

Nominee Qualifications / Criteria
1. Must be a Laboratory Animal Veterinarian
2. Active DVB AALAS member in good standing
3. Demonstrated involvement in DVB AALAS
4. Demonstrated interest in the improvement of care, quality, and environment of animal used in biologic and medical research.
5. Contribution to and accomplishments for education, training or animal care in the field of lab animal science.

Nomination packet must include a letter of nomination and at least one seconding letter. Nomination Letter may include:

a. Experience in laboratory animal science.
b. Years in the field, skills, knowledge of lab animal science.
c. Educational background
d. Participation in DVB & National AALAS, ACLAM, etc.
e. Involvement in public education, teaching, training.
f. Contributions and or accomplishment in the laboratory animal field.
g. Contributions to improving the quality, standards, or techniques in the laboratory animal field.
h. Recognition by peers as well as any Awards or honors previously recognized for accomplishments in the field.

Nomination Process

Note: Anyone having received this award may not be nominated for the same award in the future years.

Deadline for the applications is May 1st.